

¹And it came to pass, when Samuel was old, that he made his sons judges over Israel.²Now the name of his firstborn was Joel; and the name of his second, Abiah: they were judges in Beersheba.³And his sons walked not in his ways, but turned aside after lucre, and took bribes, and perverted judgment.⁴Then all the elders of Israel gathered themselves together, and came to Samuel unto Ramah,⁵And said unto him, Behold, thou art old, and thy sons walk not in thy ways: now make us a king to judge us like all the nations.⁶But the thing displeased Samuel, when they said, Give us a king to judge us. And Samuel prayed unto the LORD.⁷And the LORD said unto Samuel, Hearken unto the voice of the people in all that they say unto thee: for they have not rejected thee, but they have rejected me, that I should not reign over them.⁸According to all the works which they have done since the day that I brought them up out of Egypt even unto this day, wherewith they have forsaken me, and served other gods, so do they also unto thee.⁹Now therefore hearken unto their voice: howbeit yet protest solemnly unto them, and shew them the manner of the king that shall reign over them.¹⁰And Samuel told all the words of the LORD unto the people that asked of him a king.¹¹And he said, This will be the manner of the king that shall reign over you: He will take your sons, and appoint them for himself, for his chariots, and to be his horsemen; and some shall run before his chariots.¹²And he will appoint him captains over thousands, and captains over fifties; and will set them to
