

A 20x20 grid of 400 small clusters of black dots, each cluster representing a different number from 0 to 9. The clusters are arranged in a grid where each row and column contains all ten digits. The clusters vary in shape and size, with some being more compact and others more spread out. The background is white, and the dots are black.

• •