

The image displays a 6x10 grid of 60 small clusters of black dots. Each cluster is a unique arrangement of dots on a small grid, forming various patterns. The patterns are organized into six rows and ten columns, representing a sequence of 60 unique dot configurations. The patterns range from simple single dots or small groups to more complex, interconnected shapes.

